Join a group of peers for an ongoing experience of looking together at difficult cases with an experienced consultant!

Difficult-to-treat clients show up from time to time in almost every psychotherapy practice. The difficulties of managing boundaries as well as transference experiences can be very complex and at times dangerous. Dr. Lawrence Hedges has developed an expertise in treating borderline, psychotic, schizophrenic, and spectrum cases and as well as other better developed people. Discussing difficulties with a supervisor can be extremely enlightening and rewarding.

Call Eve at Dr. Hedges' office for more information and to register.
